The South Central Antimicrobial Network (SCAN) Guidelines for Antibiotic Prescribing in the Community have been used across many CCGs in the South Region (including HIOW CCGs) for a number of years. These guidelines provide advice on the effective and safe treatment of infections commonly presenting in primary care and are based on NICE and Public Health England advice with input from local experts.

The guidelines are available on the digital platform MicroGuide<sup>(R)</sup> – this can be accessed as an app on a phone or tablet device (information below) or via a web viewer link on a desktop computer or laptop (<https://viewer.microguide.global/SCAN/SCAN>).

To ensure that you have the most up to date version: download the app or use a web viewer link rather than printing the guidelines.

What's included in the app?

Guidelines to support antibiotic prescribing and antimicrobial stewardship in primary care

How to download

The app is available to download on either the app store (apple) or google play (android)
